

THE CUMBERLAND GAP EXTENSION.

Our correspondent Southwest has treated, at considerable length, the strictures of our Richmond correspondent upon the minerity report of Van Auken and Mr. Gib son of Lee. Now it seems to us that all this matter, which has carried over to the personal and desperate enemies of the A. M. & O R. R., the Senator and two dele. gates from Scott and Lee should be boiled down to a very portable quantity.

There is but one point upon which can hinge the question of censare or approval of the course and extention of Gen. Mahone and his directory.

Does the hestitation, or delay, or refusal ct Kentucky as to meeting them at the Gap justifiy, nonaction on their part. Now it is plain to us that outside of this issue all of us should be agreed, and it is folly for those of us who are favorable to the C. Gap extension to do one single act which would tend to impair the power or ability of the company to go forward toward the Gap when ever a forward movement may be practicable. It has been alleged by parties who hold themselves responsible that this minority report is intended to cripple the company, and, if it be so, then we contend the movement is one which the Legislature should stamp out. These very parties aver most solemnly that Kentucky will meet us, and in just that event Gen. Mahone and his Company need no coercion. If Kentucky Le willing let her say so in an authorative shape and not through proxis who have no credentials as such. Are these gentlemen tlind to the fact they are now fighting Gen. Mahone in obedience to a concected and clandestine scheme of certain parties who have sworn that they intend to defeat forever the very enterprise they so much wish. This minority report is intended to weaken the friends of the Camborland Gap road and to

The Senate and House have agreed to extend the session for a period not exceeding thirty days. $2 1-2 on marriage licences was defeated. It is believed that after the final carving and pruning which the tax bill will get, it will be defeated, and that between the imfeated. It is believed that after pulse of self-preservation and the pleased to term, "the Kane Richmond Involving no cost, except to employ, dle. We can hardly think so.

The Cumberland Gap railroad extention is still before the House. Mr. Richmond holds with the grip of a turtle, and his grip would seem off of the "true scent." "Justice" at which so merely to a limited extent torple of the State had no feeling, but of "Washington's" second letter, which with her grim deities, an Greece and menting its intended victim.

The minority report of Van Anken was tackled on Thursday, upon a motion to publish it, a warm debate followed and the cooler minds of the House stamped it with minds of the mi the effect of inflicting on the A. M. & O. R. R. Co., an injury which ist successful answer could not soon counteract and they very wisely refosed to print it. Mr. Richmond then asked leave to print it at his own expense, and was at once pronounced out of order. Mr. Fulkereon tackfed the incendiary, Van Auken, and was so pointed in his remaks as to be called to order.—

On Friday Mr. Magruder moved
